City To Purchase Three New Cars

Will Be Used For Police Department—Other News Of Council Session

During council meeting Monday in City hall, solons, acting upon the suggestion of Mayor John F. Haven authorized Purchasing Agent Joseph D. Alexander to buy three eight-cylinder Fords from the Ford Motor Car company, at a price of $1,677, each, with any reductions since the bids were submitted several months ago.

The mayor stated police department cars were in bad condition, and were costing too much money to repair, hence he suggested new cars.

Finance Director Albert Hoyland offered the motion authorizing Mr. Alexander to buy the cars, and the motion was adopted unanimously.

Make Sewer Awards

Kane Bros., Youngstown, was awarded a contract to build the William street-Hazen street storm sewer at their low bid of $1,249, upon motion of Director James Gibson. Other bids were: E. F. Scanlon, $1,755; New Castle Dunlite company, $1,505, and J. Diore, Youngstown, $1,490.

New Castle Dunlite company won the Madison Avenue storm sewer bid at their low bid of $4,904.36. Councilman Joseph D. Alexander made the motion to award the bid. Other bids were: J. Diore, Youngstown, $6,104.50; E. F. Scanlon, $8,163.50 and Kane Bros., $6,806.80.

Upon motion of Finance Director Albert Hoyland, the city bought from the Castle Stationery company a safe for the tax receiver's office at a low, and only bid of $754.75.

Council granted permission to contractors for Haney Bros., to erect a 14 by nine electric sign on the front of their building, West Washington street.

An ordinance including sections not taken into, but which should be in fire zone, was adopted by council today.

Council adopted an ordinance changing from a C to secondary business zone the section bounded by Sampson, Emery, Harbor and Rebecca street. The Planning commission reported they approved the change.

state aviation regulations, but to "equally definite" navy rules against aerial acrobatics.

The dead navy fighter pilot, Lt. (jg) Robert Vernon Poe, 23, of Fairfax, Va.—allegedly was stunting his craft when it rammed head-on into the Eastern Airlines DC-3.

Twelve passengers and three crewmen were aboard the airliner. Poe was alone in the "Hellcat".

Meanwhile, commercial and civilian pilots hurled bitter accusations against frequent "buzzing" of their planes on Saturday by navy pilots.

A Fairhaven, N. J., Piper Cub pilot—George Humphreys—told authorities Poe's "Hellcat" had narrowly missed him only a few seconds before the fatal collision with the airliner.

Zoomed Too Close

Two Eastern Airlines pilots complained that other navy pilots zoomed close to their planes. An unidentified National Airlines pilot issued a similar charge.

A spokesman for Eastern Airlines said he was "sure the Civil Aeronautics Board will bring out the facts" in its investigation.

In Washington, a navy spokesman said that the navy regulations require pilots to fly at least 1000 feet clear of commercial aircraft.

The navy spokesman declared that navy pilots are under strict orders not to fly "acrobatically or erratically in the vicinity of commercial or transport aircraft".

Joseph O. Fluet, chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board of Inquiry, said preliminary investigation revealed that the Eastern Airlines pilot, Capt. Leroy R. Matthews, had no chance to make a crash landing after the "Hellcat" ripped off a wing of the DC-3.

Eleven of the 15 occupants of the airliner remain unidentified, such was the charred condition of their burned and mangled bodies.

Salvaged articles such as a gold lipstick, a wedding ring, two diamond engagement rings, jewelry and a charred notebook were the only clues to the identity of the victims.

CAR UPSETS

No one was injured when an auto operated by Anthony Stoner, 401 Galbreath avenue, went off the West Washington street extension road and overturned on the highway at 11:30 p. m. Saturday.

U. S. airmen supported by ground forces delivered the greatest political spanking to Russian diplomacy since the war through the sensational "operation vittles."

Much has been written about the air lift that kept the allies inside divided Berlin when the Russians tried to starve them out along with two and one-half million non-communist Germans.

Even more will be written about the flying boxcars after they are put away in their hangars or shifted to other operations, beginning next Monday.

Figures Speak

But none of it can be labeled propaganda because the figures speak for themselves. The Russians, too, who said it couldn't be done, acknowledged defeat, saved as much face as possible, and lifted the blockade last May 12.

What western observers do consider propaganda, however, and fantastic propaganda at that, is the Russian newspaper Pravda's pronouncements earlier this month in connection with aviation day in Russia.

"Russia is the birthplace of aeronautical navigation," Pravda told the land that lacks a free press and whose government "laims" the U. S. "Voice of America" news broadcasts.

"To her belongs undisputed priority in discoveries and inventions in the sphere of aviation."

This is another in a long list of inventions the Russians have been claiming now over a period of many months. Recently the Russian-controlled press issued what it termed an explanation why Russia never before had made such claims. It said the "dirty czarist regime" had hidden the great Russian achievements from the world.

Surprising Claim
Another Pravda assertion that surprised and either amused or angered Americans and Britons was:

"It was on the Soviet-German front that the fighting power of the

YOUTH SHOULD FINISH SCHOOL

A good many youths who did not finish high school last June made up their minds then or long before not to return to school this fall. Some of them have found jobs. For them it may not be easy to change their minds and return to school in September. Even those who have not yet been employed may feel they must save their face and stick by their announcement to their pals and family.

Nor are parents always persuasive in such matters, especially if they have scolded and exhorted in angry, superior tones. Indeed, some youths quit school because their parents do too much talking. Some relative or other person this youth looks up to might help him see why he would be wise to go back to school. Obviously a recession is on. Any youth can easily see that the scarcer jobs become the better the chances are, relatively, for the high school graduate or person with much more education to win employment, hold a job, and gain promotion.

Returning to School
If the youth's resistance to returning to school is because he lagged at books, some teacher or counselor of the school might be glad to cooperate with the parents in helping this youth choose courses best suited to his talents and even to help the parents find a sympathetic skillful person to employ for giving special individual help on the side to this youth. It would be money well spent by the parents even if it entailed a great personal sacrifice financially. As I have said many times, most of these laggards at school are poor readers. They and the people who aim to help them might find some suggestions in my bulletins, "Tips for Students," and "Home Helps for Poor Readers" (to be had in a stamped envelope sent me at 235 East 45th street, New York, N. Y.)

High school graduates who have won good grades in high school should by all means go to college. If they can possibly find the money to do so, more especially if they see no chance for early employment. Unfortunately bright graduates, especially girls, who could go to college, will choose instead to take a short commercial course. The longer, harder way would be much wiser for them. There are plenty of other girls with less ability to do college work, or without funds for college, who should be taking these commercial courses which may fit them well for a routine office job. Some college graduates, not finding a job, might profitably take a commercial course with advantage and thus prepare for secretarial work, at which they could grow much faster than the girl without college training, as a rule.

Advanced Courses

Also high school graduates with out jobs could take advanced courses at their local high school, and usually without cost. Employed or not, they could take some night courses at the local night high school or college. With no such opportunities available, they could take a course by mail, being wise to check with proper authorities to make sure the correspondence course is not somewhat of a racket. There are some very high grade correspondence schools.

The armed forces should appeal to many a boy just graduated from high school, the more so if he resolves to enter some of the fine courses available to him with no more cost than his effort.

Girls as well as boys should keep on learning and thus lift themselves a bit higher above the clouds and gain the satisfaction they can thus be more useful in the world. Always there are good books available to practically everybody rich or poor, waiting for more persons of ambition and stuff of character to read them.

Guerrilla forces with communist ideas are there now, and they make life a bit hazardous for any foreigner. If they catch Frank Buck, they may not bother to bring him back alive.

Census Bureau Gets Ready For Big Year In '50

County Residents Will Have A Lot Of Questions To Answer Next Year

In less than a year now census takers will be knocking at the doors of Lawrence county residents seeking all kinds of information from how many persons are living in the house to how much money they are making.

Census taking has become quite a huge task in this country and over 165,000 persons, receiving from $200 to $800 apiece for their efforts, are expected to help Uncle Sam with the '50 census.

Trial runs are being made in various parts of the country to see which type of census is the better, a rather long form that will take about an hour and ten minutes per home or a shorter form that will take about 40 minutes.

Regardless of which one they choose it's a sure thing that each family in the county will have a lot of questions to answer when the census taker reaches the home.

Wants Income Figures

Not only does the census bureau want to know full population data but it also wants to know about such matters as housing, occupations, amount of schooling and a great stock pile of other material, including incomes.

The question on incomes and women's ages probably meet with the stiffest resistance of any questions asked. It requires a lot of tact and patience to wiggles the true facts from many of the persons interviewed.

Homes in which the census taker finds it hard to enter are the exception rather than the rule in the United States. Some housewives seem to be a little cautious at first, fearing a sales trick, but as soon as confidence has been established the interviewer receives the greatest cooperation.

Some homes welcome the enumerator with open arms, handing him (or her) family albums, showing the family hobbies and even inviting the taker to stay for dinner.

Not Named Yet

Census takers for the Lawrence county area have not yet been announced, but many of them will be housewives or other residents of the community that they will interview.

The 1940 figures show that 96,877 persons resided in Lawrence county. New Castle with 47,638 persons and Ellwood City with 10,903 were the largest centers of population.

Figures obtained in 1950 are expected to be somewhat higher in the district due to the increased number of mills and other business establishments set up here in the past ten years.

Giant redwood trees are being planted in the Himalayan region of India, to increase the country's forest wealth. The seeds were obtained from California.

Advise Vets To Record Discharge

Families Suffer In Case Of Death, Conn Points Out To Veterans

OTHER NEWS OF COURT HOUSE HILL

In a warning issued today, Director of Veteran Affairs A. Lewis Conn points out to veterans the advantage of having his discharge papers recorded at the court house.

Scarcely a week passes by now when Mr. Conn is not called upon to make claims upon the government in behalf of the family of some deceased veteran, he states. Too often it is found that the veteran has neglected to have the honorable discharge given him on release from service recorded and it has either been lost or put away so safely by the veteran that the family is unable to find it.

The Veterans Administration will not honor any requests unless accompanied by the discharge paper. If none can be found, it is necessary to write to the adjutant general's office, or the Bureau of Navigation in case the veteran was a sailor, to have a certified copy of the discharge papers made out.

With the burden of work increasing in these offices it is sometimes several months before such a paper can be secured and the initial claim started.

The family thus loses that much time in filing claims for widows' pensions, burial allowances, insurance, etc.

The veteran himself, in case he would become ill and want to file a claim for hospitalization, must produce his discharge paper. It is the only legal paper identifying him as a veteran. If he cannot produce the same immediately he may be denied this assistance, along with many other benefits to which he is entitled.

Appeals have been made in many cases in the past for veterans to record this important paper. It is not needed and in the meantime an emergency arises. The veteran is simply out of luck. The mere fact that he says he is a veteran is not accepted as proof. He must produce the proper credentials, which is his discharge paper. It is not necessary for the veteran to bring this discharge in himself. Any member of his family can do it for him.

APPEAL IS DENIED

In the case of Silvio A. Dell and Margaret F. Dell, administrators of the estate of Louis B. Dell, deceased, vs Edward Chadderton, trading and doing business as Ed. Chadderton Trucking company, defendants, and Pasquale Zona, administrator of the estate of Frank Zona, deceased, additional defendants, the motion of the defendants for a new trial is denied by Judge W. Walter Brahm.

The court in its opinion states that the action is one brought under the Wrongful Death Act and the Survival Act of Pennsylvania.

In the one petition, over the verdict under the Wrongful Death Act, the court denies the various points brought up by the defendants for a new trial, stating that "although a new trial in this case must be refused, this does not mean that everything done by the jury meets with our favor. If the court had the doing of it, the verdict would have been against both defendants and additional defendants. A new trial should not be granted for this reason. Nevertheless, this occasion is taken to record our considered view that an action here should not be taken to be determinative of the issue between Zona's administrator and Chadderton and Marchi. After careful survey of all evidence we find no substantial error which requires a new trial."

In the other petition the court states the action that under the survival statute for the death of Louis Dell is comparable in the case under the death statute, in which an opinion and order are filed at the same time and for the reasons therein set out, the motion for a new trial is refused and the prothonotary is directed to enter judgment on the verdict upon payment of the jury fee.

This one grew out of a collision on Route 18, just south of New Wilmington, in which a truck driven by Joseph Macri hauling a tractor owned by Chadderton struck a car driven by Frank Zona, in which Dell was a passenger. The Zona car was on the wrong side of the road but Macri, the driver, admitted he was exceeding the speed permitted trucks of the size he was driving.

The jury brought in a verdict in behalf of the Dell's for $1,966.50 under the Wrongful Death Act and $8,750 under the Survival Act.

BIG TREES TO GO

It was revealed today by Custodian Harvey G. Bintrim at the court house that around nine of the big maple trees at the court house have been found to be hollow and in danger of being blown down by storms and will likely be cut down in the near future. Efforts have been made to save the trees by work of tree surgeons in the past but they now seem doomed.

TWO BROTHERS DIE IN CRASH OF AIRPLANE

YORK, Pa., Aug. 1.—(INS)—State police today investigated the crash of a private plane near Rossville which carried two brothers to their deaths before the horrified eyes of their widowed father.

The crash, which occurred Sunday morning about 10 miles north of York, claimed the lives of Guy Bowring, 28, the pilot, and George Bowring, 25. The pilot flew the plane to the farm to return his brother to Ft. Meade, Md., where he was on duty with the army.

The single-engined craft was taking off for the trip when it stalled about 200 feet in the air and dropped tail first to earth.

Both men died almost instantly, according to York County Coroner Lester J. Sell.

The state police report on the investigation is expected to be filed tomorrow.

Lightning Kills Two Ball Players

Shortstop And Third Baseman Of Florida Team,
Killed, 50 Fans
Injured

BAKER, Fla., Aug. 1—(INS)—Baseball listed a grim nature note today as a lightning bolt was blamed for the death of two Baker players during a game in the small Florida town.

Some 50 persons in a crowd of 300 were injured as the flashing bolt threw the spectators into a near panic.

The bolt ripped a path down the third baseline 20 feet long and two and a half inches wide.

Two Meet 'Death'

The players killed were third baseman Allen J. Joiner, Jr., 23, of Crestview, Fla., and shortstop Harris Moore, 24, of Baker.

Joe Taylor, Baker second baseman of Crestview, was taken to the Crestview hospital with critical injuries.

Gordon Walther, Baker left fielder, said he was thrown to the ground as he and other members of his team were running to their playing positions.

Walther said the lightning seemed to strike the home-made chicken wire barricade behind home plate. He declared:

"I was knocked to the ground and everybody else around me was flattened."

Flash Hits Wire

"The flash curved right off the chicken wire and went down toward third base, digging a trench as it went," Walther added.

"I heard men, women and children screaming as they fled in terror from the field."

Three ambulances from Crestview and several doctors and nurses answered a call for help.

Baker was playing Munson in the semi-professional Bi-County league composed of teams in Santa Rosa and Okaloosa counties.

Wolves club members will have a dinner-meeting on Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock, in the Castleton, with president Joseph Frenzel in charge.

AREN'T YOUNG PEOPLE TERRIBLE?

It seems that boys and girls have been quite a problem for old folks for some time.

When people get old they seem to forget what they were like when they were young. They seem to act sometimes as though they had never made any mistakes themselves.

Sometimes those who were the worst when they were young are the fussiest when they are old.

Perhaps young people are pretty much the same from one generation to another.

Fortunately they like to laugh and play. They like to try new ways of doing things. They make mistakes occasionally but it may be just as well.

It is rumored that it is possible for old people to make mistakes, and Mussolini to receive Waugh, and the latter practiced in advance the precise speech he proposed to make.

Recreation is good for both old and young. Butch and Rosie play ball while Mom and Grand Dad look on. It works out pretty well for Grand Dad to provide the equipment and the youngsters to use it.

The long walk to the dictator's desk, with his footsteps re-echoing on the marble floor did Waugh in. Mussolini further gave him the "can't-you-see-I'm-signing-import-documents?" pantomime, before throwing down his quill and barking, "Well?" Waugh forgot every word he'd meant to say and heard a voice that he recognized with some surprise as his own declare, "Sire, Ethiopia will never be conquered!" That concluded the interview. Waugh left for London the same evening.

Mussolini to receive Waugh, and the latter practiced in advance the precise speech he proposed to make.

Homeward bound from reporting the invasion of Ethiopia, Waugh paused in Rome in hope of securing an audience with the Pope. "Only Mussolini can get you one at a time like this," he was told. The British embassy persuad-

Two Are Drowned Near Pittsburgh

OAKMONT, Pa., Aug. 1.—(INS)—Francis P. McCall, 41, of Pittsburgh, and Stanley Filbert, 51, of Pittsburgh drowned early yesterday when their boat capsized in the Allegheny river one mile north of Oakmont.

A third man, Albert Hammerstrom, 46, also a Pittsburgher, who swam to shore after futilely trying to save his fellow fishermen, told police the boat upset 30 feet from shore when McCall started the outboard motor full throttle and tried to make an immediate turn.

Hammerstrom added that his two companion became panicky in the water while trying to reach three life preservers which were being carried from shore by the current.

UNEMPLOYMENT IN STATE HITS POSTWAR HIGH

Labor And Industry Department Reports 413,000 Unemployed Up To June 15

By JOHN HARMS

HARRISBURG, Aug. 1.—The number of jobless Pennsylvanians has hit a new post-war high water mark of 413,000, it was reported by the labor and industry department.

Current figures indicated that the state's unemployment was far ahead of earlier department estimates which predicted the peak jobless total would reach 500,000 people about mid-winter and then hold steady.

The state's labor force is roughly estimated at 4,600,000 workers.

Jumps 26 Per Cent.

The number of jobless workers jumped 26 per cent from April to mid-June.

Cause for the continuing employment slump was laid at the door of an anticipated pick-up in most industries expected during the summer which did not live up to expectations, labor market analysts said.

The economic picture indicated that at the present time there are more unemployed than available labor and industry department figures show, because "current" figures paint a picture only to the middle of June.

Industries reported their heaviest are textile, steel, apparel and machinery manufacturing which reflected the greatest comparative reduction in working force, according to Director A. J. Caruso of the employment and unemployment compensation bureau.

No Good For Grads

Adding to the over-all list of jobless persons are the June high school graduates who have not yet been absorbed into the working ranks. Opportunities for full-time employment are reported not too good for recent grads.

Construction in particular has not measured up to expectations for higher seasonal employment, but the decline in employment has extended into practically every industrial line.

Although seasonal industries, like construction, have reported higher employment levels than last year they have not gone ahead as anticipated.

Wholesale trade industries have shown declines but the trend so far has not affected the retail trade field.

Jobs In Sales

Paradoxically, the employment service reported there are many jobs that remain unfilled, mainly in the sales field and farming.

Employment figures did not take into account the coal regions where miners and other employees are presently working a three-day week under orders of United Mine Workers President John L. Lewis.

Meanwhile, ranks of the unemployed have the prospect of being joined by steel workers who threaten an industry-wide strike.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK by DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

"Shushing."

Children are naturally noisy. Noise is as much a part of their growing up as running, jumping and climbing.

If your family is at all like ours, there's likely to be a lot of "shushing" when the noise starts. When our youngsters were smaller, the people in the apartment below us were old and on the fussy side. It seems we were always warning them against making too much noise. Sometimes we have to quiet older children while younger ones are napping.

Naturally some of this has to be done. It's much better, though, to go lightly on restricting youngsters' noise-making activity, and take care of the problem in other ways. Carpeting in the hall with newspapers or some other sound-

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 1.—The deadening material beneath it will help. Getting the baby accustomed to sleep without absolute quiet is possible and desirable.

Taking a little thought will make it possible to find various ways to sidestep the eternal "shush" and still not have our youngsters' natural noise be too, troublesome to us or to others.

Three Killed In Harrisburg Area

HARRISBURG, Aug. 1.—(INS)

Three persons were killed in the Harrisburg area over the weekend. Killed in separate accidents were Joseph A. Norris, 21, of Mechanicsburg; Betty Owens, 20, of Austin in Potter county, and R. H. Lader, 25, of Lebanon.

Norris was killed when his car hit a utility pole near Mechanicsburg Saturday night while Miss Owens died in Harrisburg hospital yesterday of injuries sustained when the car in which she was a passenger struck a culvert at Amity Hall.

Rader died Saturday night in an accident resulting from the collision of a car in which he was riding with a truck near Annville.

The first colony in this country to declare a closed season on the hunting of game was Massachusetts, when in 1694 it forbade the killing of deer during a part of the year.

Even Lady MacBeth of the bloody Shakespearean hands is most frequently visualized as a blonde. Salome, as far as historical research shows, had dark hair, and Cleopatra wagged her black locks at Mark Antony until history wouldn't have it.

In Warner Bros.' "Beyond The Forest," She will be seen with startling black hair, quite different from the real blonde Bette Davis who has been waging a one-woman campaign to establish blondes as menaces for the last 18 years.

"It has a great psychological effect," Bette said, "to change completely the color of your hair. In this case, I feel like a different woman. I feel like Rosa Moline."

Black-Haired Sinners

Rosa Moline is the shady lady of the picture, and she is only slightly less horrid than Catherine Di Medici, who also was a blonde.

"Practically all of the infamous courtesans, connivers, and sinners among the women of history and fiction," Bette said, "have had black hair. It seems to go with the type."

Even Lady MacBeth of the bloody Shakespearean hands is most frequently visualized as a blonde. Salome, as far as historical research shows, had dark hair, and Cleopatra wagged her black locks at Mark Antony until history wouldn't have it.

Researchers have decided that Medea, the Greek wife who slew her children, was a dark-haired hussy. And practically everybody knows that the Borgias, especially Lucrezia, were a dark-complexioned clan. Ostrud, who conspired against Elsa in "Lothengrin," was a blonde, and, of course, Mata Hari, the great siren spy, was on the same color chart.

"There's no limit to the horrible brunettes," Bette said. She was quick to point out, however, that a blonde in itself doesn't constitute evil.

"After all," she said, "there are some pretty nasty blondes, too, and there are a great many brunettes who are nothing but ladies."

Urge That Housewives Be Given Crack At U.S. Held Food Surpluses

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1—(INS)—Senate Agricultural Chairman Thomas D. Okla., today urged that housewives be given a crack at the huge food surpluses held in warehouses by the government.

Thomas asked Agriculture Secretary Brannan to draft a proposal which would free the stockpiles held by the Commodity Credit Corporation for sale in "deficit or high-priced areas."

In a letter to Brannan, the senator said that there ought to be a way to market CCC's stored surpluses rather than merely "hoard" them in the warehouses.

In connection with his request for release of stored foods to relieve the pressure on family pocketbooks, Thomas protested continued buying of dried eggs by the government.

No Known Market?

He said that since Britain has withdrawn from the dried-egg market, the government has "no known market" for its vast store of 60 million pounds of dried eggs—the equivalent of six million cases of fresh eggs.

Thomas suggested that the eggs—in their fresh state—be channeled to food stores, declaring:

"The housewives of the industrial east will welcome the opportunity of buying eggs from her grocery man at, or slightly above, support prices."

Thomas explained that a procedure for marketing the government-held foods in what he called "deficit or high-priced areas" would take a legislative provision for a marketing division with that authority.

He said that if Brannan would draft such a provision, he would try to include it in new farm legislation which is now under study by his committee.

The committee has rejected the Brannan program for subsidized payments to farmers, at least for this term, and has instructed a

Lawrence County 4-H Youths Will Attend Club Week

Lawrence county will have 18 4-H club members as delegates at the twenty-fifth annual 4-H Club Week, August 8 to 11, at the Pennsylvania State College.

Of these, eight are members of agricultural clubs and ten of them are members of homemakers clubs. They will represent the 390 youths now enrolled in club work in the county.

Because of limited facilities at the college, attendance again will be held to around 1,000 delegates, or between 4 and 5 per cent of the total enrollment in the state. All delegates must have completed at least one year of club work. In the county delegation, there will be a swine judging team, vegetable judging team, and an egg demonstration team exhibiting on some of their 4-H club work.

The 4-H youths will be accompanied by Mrs. Lois Yack, assistant Home Economics Extension representative and John H. Holbert, assistant county agent.

Club week is conducted by the Agriculture Extension Service with the 4-H staff at the college in charge of the program.

Keep Garden Working Full Time Until Frost

Late July is still planting time in the home garden. Crops to start the end of July include leafy vegetables, such as lettuce, kale, endive, spinach, cabbage, Chinese cabbage, and root crops. Carrots will make a crop if planted soon. Since the seeds germinate slowly, many gardeners mark rows by mixing with the carrot seeds a few radishes, which come up more quickly, but not enough to give the carrots competition.

Chinese cabbage makes a good fall crop, and if harvested before freezing weather, will keep a month or longer in the vegetable cellar. Endive and kale are excellent greens for salad ingredients. About mid-October the endive leaves can be tied together for bleaching. Kale may be left in the garden all winter if protected from rabbits.

POISONOUS MUSHROOMS

(By OWEN P. FOX)

During the next month and into fall after nights of warm rains, many folks will be in the fields hunting for mushrooms. And of the 2,000 different species of mushrooms or fungi that make their appearance in the fields and woods, only 1,000 of them are good to eat. Mushrooms are a fruit of the earth that beckon many hunters. And they should be sure of the species they pick, for among the mushrooms that seem to come from nowhere are deadly ones that resemble the edible ones. The overnight appearance of mushrooms over the land is one of Nature's miracles. If Nature has fairies working for her in decorating the earth with its strange fungi she surely calls upon a swarm of them in a night distribution of the many shaped mushrooms.

Shown in the sketch are five different and unwholesome mushrooms that should never be picked. The morgan is one of the largest. It grows in the meadows to a height of nine inches, and at times eleven inches across the cap. The cap is white, and carries blotches of brownish skin, the gills of this mushroom is white at first but soon turns green. The sulphur grows two to four inches high, the cap is a solid red, and has a bad smell. The russula has a red cap with white gills and has a short stem and when it is old the red cap changes to a straw color. The woolly is pungent and poisonous and grows to a size of three inches, the cap is pale yellow and the stem is woolly. The deceiving grows in thick clusters on dead stumps of trees; this mushroom is a yellow or orange color and grows eight inches high and is found everywhere during August and September.

The state of Florida has a total tidal shore line in excess of any other state in the Union. The tidal shoreline is 3751 statute miles of which 1987 miles is on the mainland and 1764 miles is on islands or keys.

The name weakfish was given to the sea trout because it has tender mouth.

Charleston Man Kicked To Death

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 1.—(INS)—Two men who took turns kicking Conrad O'Brien while they alternately held back a crowd with a knife in downtown Charleston failed today to reveal a motive for the murder.

O'Brien, a Charleston man, died en route to the hospital yesterday.

Police, still unable to uncover an apparent motive, identified the two stompers as fellow Charlestonsians, Harry Burdette, 25, and Fred Painter, 30.

ARMERICAN GIRLS
SHOCK HOME TOWN OF SHAKESPEARE

STRATFORD-ON-AVON, Aug. 1.—(INS)—William Shakespeare's home town settled back into its usual quiet again today in the wake of an American bobby-soxer invasion.

The Sunday calm of the tourist mecca was shattered yesterday when vacationing American girls roamed the town in be-boy blouses with dangling shirt-tails and three-quarter length slacks.

High-browed residents of the calm Avon-side village were shocked when Mayor Bert Cooper gallantly defended the teen-age visitors saying:

William Shakespeare would have been all in favor of unusual clothing."

Many countries hold national election on Sunday because on that day business will be least interfered with and the most voters are free to come to the polls.

Hotel Picketing Ordered Stopped

Temporary Injunction Is Issued Restraining Picketing At New Penn Hotel

Picketing of the New Penn Hotel was ordered stopped today, at noon, by Judge John G. Lamoree.

Upon petition of Guy Angelucci, owner of the hotel on South Mercer street, a temporary injunction was issued restraining Local 785 of the Hotel Employees and Bartenders' Union from picketing the hotel.

A hearing upon the preliminary injunction will be held in court Wednesday morning, August 3.

No strike exists at the hotel according to Mr. Angelucci. All employees are working, he claims, and the pickets are said to be employees of other hotels and also men from out of the city.

The injunction was issued against Mike Sacco, president of the local, Blanche White, secretary and the international union.

Deputy Sheriff Thomas O'Brien served the injunction notice upon Blanche White, secretary of the union at 12:15 and she immediately removed her picket sign. The other pickets continued picketing and it was indicated that further steps would be taken to stop all picketing.

Alfred and some other children were playing near the automobile while its owner was repairing the radiator. When he removed the radiator cap steam and hot water spurted out.

Tin was imported from Cornwall to Italy shortly after the invasion of Britain by Caesar.

Plan Crate Clinic For Derby Youths

Expert Advice With Real Car Illustrations For Optimist Racing Car
Builders

Orange Crate Derby entrants for the big Labor Day races will have the benefit of expert advice on their cars if they attend the "Crate Clinic" August 10.

This is the first year that the Optimist club, sponsors of the derby, have ever held such a clinic but it is believed that the quality of racing and the number of entrants can be increased by such a move.

All boys who are building a car or who are interested in building one should plan to attend the free clinic at Joey's Radio shop at 506 North Jefferson street. The session will get underway at 7 o'clock.

Car On Display

An orange crate racer will be on display the night of the clinic and questions about construction will be answered with illustrations from the real model.

General Chairman Dale Clobus and his numerous committees are planning on a large crowd to attend the annual Labor Day event on Taylor street.

Some of the entrants are being sponsored by clubs or business firms this year and any such organization that would like the opportunity to sponsor a boy in the race can do so by notifying Clobus.

The contest is open to all boys of New Castle and adjoining townships between the ages of 11 and 15. The boys must have built the car himself at a cost of not exceeding $20, exclusive of brakes, steering and decorations. All cars must have brakes capable of stopping quickly and in a straight. Steering must be controlled with a wheel.

Careful Inspection

Cars will be carefully inspected to see that the expense and safety requirements are met. Boys will be required to wear a protective helmet while competing.

First prize will be a fully equipped bicycle and the second prize will also be a bicycle. Additional prizes will be awarded to the boys whose cars have the most attractive appearance, best design, best brakes and best steering. Every entrant will receive an official derby jersey.

Rules and regulations are obtainable at the Firestone Store, Gus' or from any Optimist member.

Entries may be made by sending in the attached blank with the $1 fee or getting an entry blank from any of the sources mentioned.

Slays Two; Then Commits Suicide

Triple Tragedy Occurs In New York City Apartment Over Weekend

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—(INS)—The brief notation "suicide" closed out today the brilliant New York Police Department record of Patrolman William R. Lane—victim of his love for a woman who didn't want him.

Lane, accorded honors twice by the department, got nothing but rebuffs from his statuesque, blonde wife, a former nightclub singer and dancer known as Stephanie Brooks.

Married in November, 1947, Lane and his wife were soon separated and she sued for annulment. But, although the decree was to be handed down within a few days, the policeman still had hopes he could effect a reconciliation.

Saturday morning Lane went to the apartment where his wife was living. When he heard her returning home with a man, he slipped out on the fire escape.

With Mrs. Lane was Arnold Myers, 37, a carpenter who was preparing to join his own wife and two sons in Norway in a few months.

As authorities reconstructed the scene, Patrolman Lane watched his wife and Myers undress and go to bed. Then he stepped into the room, fired two shots, killing both as they lay in each other's arms. He fired a third bullet into his own brain.

New Castle Wins From Oil City 8 To 7, After Losing 8 To 3 Sunday

Herman Kiel Hits Homers 19 And 20

Herman Kiel's 20th home run drive since joining the Nats provided the spark in the seventh inning of the night-cap at Flaherty Memorial Field Sunday, that gave the New Castle club an 8 to 7 win, and an even split with the Oil City Refiners who took the opening game 8-3.

Hilary Shapiro had led off the seventh inning with a single, and rode home ahead of Kiel. New Castle wound up with four runs on five hits, Reed Maier's single to right field driving in the winning runs. New Castle began the final inning trailing 7 to 4.

Giardullo Is Winner

The exciting victory gave Mike Giardullo who had relieved Wagner in the sixth, his fifth win against 12 defeats. The veteran Wagner was not his usual calm self Sunday, giving up seven hits and six runs in five innings, but got ragged support from his mates. The Nats had six errors in the night-cap. The losing hurler was Cannon for Oil City who relieved Leary in the seventh.

Mike Warfel had the handcuffs on the Nats in the first game Sunday, allowing but four hits and pitching a steady game all the way. He was very effective in the pinches. Outside of the first inning, Warfel was master. The Nats started Felix Bucchioni and he lasted until the eighth inning being derricked for Churchill, after giving up four hits and five runs in 7 innings. Bucchioni was charged with the defeat.

Barons Here Thursday

There were five homers in the twin-bill—Kiel had two, his 19th and 20th; Otto Denning, the Oil City manager had two in the night-cap game in the second and fourth innings off of Wagner, and Jerry Kaires had one in the first game in the big sixth inning.

New Castle and Oil City were rained out Saturday night. The extra-game will be played at Oil City as a part of a twin-bill. "Family Night" will be held here Friday night with Uniontown here. New Castle will be at Erie for a two-game series, Tuesday and Wednesday. Uniontown moves in here Thursday, for a three-game stand.

Cardinals-Dodgers Announce Re-Play

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 1.—(INS)—Friday night's 3-3 tie between the Brooklyn Dodgers and the St. Louis Cardinals will be replayed at 1:30 p.m. September 21 in St. Louis.

The announcement was made by the Cardinal office. The present game will go in the record books as a complete game, but since it cannot affect the standings, there will be another game added to the schedule.

A similar arrangement will have to be worked out by Brooklyn for the 4-4 tie played recently between the two clubs at Ebbets field.

The replay game at St. Louis September 21 will precede a regularly scheduled night game.

Sawyer modestly disavows personal credit for the Phillies' great play this season and insists the Jays have been going good because he has "a team without stars."

Wally Kilrea, Jr., Publinks Champ

HERSHEY, Pa., Aug. 1.—(INS)—Sixteen-year-old Wally Kilrea, Jr., of the Hershey Park Golf Club today was amateur champion of the Pennsylvania Public Golfers Association.

The Hershey high school student, whose father is a star center in the American Ice Hockey League, topped a field of 89 entries with a 297 for the 72 hole tournament.

Kilrea's 297 was the highest score since 1940; it was attributed in part to storms which swept the Hershey course.

Arthur Garrison, of Hershey, was runner up to Kilrea. Garrison and Tony Yushka, of South Park in Pittsburgh, each finished with 308 and Garrison won second place honors by capturing a one-hole "sudden death" playoff. Garrison carded a five while his opponent posted a six.

PONDER WINS

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—(INS)—Ponder ate his oats from the same Calumet farm bucket as Citation, Coaltown and Armed today.

The three-year-old son of Pensive entered horse racing's high society Saturday by winning Chicago's $60,000 Arlington classic.
